Workshop/Training/Meeting Details:

What Every Parent Should Know About the Human Papillomavirus (HPV):

Representatives from the American Cancer Society will discuss testing, prevention and cancers associated with the HPV and the various ways it is passed from person to person.

Family Nutrition Series: Participants will learn ways to fix easy and nutritious meals for the family as well as how to make simple exercise routines a part of their daily lifestyle.

Colorectal Cancer: Representatives from Miami-Dade Area Health Education Center will discuss the stages and symptoms of Colorectal Cancer. Participants 50 years or older are also eligible to receive a free Fecal Immunochemical Test.

Stress Relief and Creative Gift Ideas: Participants will have fun reducing stress while creating easy art and craft projects that can be made at home with their children to keep or given away as gifts.

Everything You Should Know About the HIV/AIDS: Participants will learn about the importance of HIV/AIDS testing, how the epidemic is affecting our community, and ways to decrease the mortality rate associated with the disease.

M-DCPS Department of Mental Health Services: Staff from the newly created Department of Mental Health Services will discuss ways our school system can help students and families with mental health challenges that cause distress.

A Parent's Guide to Understanding State Academic Assessments: Participants will receive information regarding the various State Academic Assessments students are scheduled to take this year and what parents can do to help prepare their children for the assessments.

Family Values Matter: Black History Trivia Games: In celebration of Black History Month, participants will have fun testing their knowledge in a trivia game about the rich and diverse history of famous Blacks throughout the world.
